All,

i-Doser is derived from Sbagen. This is easily proven and has been proven by running 'strings' against i-Doser.

As a result, i-Doser is violating the GPL license which Sbagen was released under. Please follow the community software process, and contact the author of Sbagen (Jim Peters) who was so gracious to publish the software which made i-Doser possible, and work out a way to be compliant with the terms of the GPL and Jim's wishes.

If not, you can easily find yourself in legal trouble, as the Free Software Foundation and its lawyers can and probably would take this up if asked. But I don't think anyone wants that, especially you.

Do the right thing.
